What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that store information. We, or other parties, place these text files on your computer or mobile device. For example, in your next visit, we are able to read your preferences or login details in the text file. This means that you do not have to indicate your preferences again and we can make the website more user-friendly. Under the heading "Cookies Overview" you will see which cookies we place and what they are used for.

Overview cookies:

Analytical cookies

We continuously improve our website by analyzing how you use our website, how you found us and where there are any bottlenecks. Cookies are placed by Google Analytics.

Social media cookies

To share content from our website on social media, LinkedIn will place cookies. We do not store cookies longer than required by law and not longer than is strictly necessary for carrying out the purposes.

If other parties place cookies, their privacy statement applies. This may change in the meantime. The current privacy statement can be found on the website of the party concerned:

- LinkedIn

You can also delete and manage cookies

You can choose to delete existing cookies, allow or block all cookies, and set preferences for certain websites via your internet browser (the program that allows you to view websites). How this should be done depends on the web browser. Click on the link of your web browser to see how you can delete or disable cookies:
